

What people exemplify how this STS formation has developed over time?

Lesley Green is director of Environmental Humanities South and associate professor of Anthropology in the School of African and Gender Studies, Anthropology and Linguistics at the University of Cape Town, South Africa. She is the editor of Contested Ecologies: Dialogues in the South on Nature and Knowledge (Human Sciences Research Council Press, 2013) and co-author, with David Green, of Knowing the Day, Knowing the World: Engaging Amerindian Thought in Public Archaeology (Arizona University Press, 2013). Her new book Rock, Water, Life: Science, Environmentalism and Decoloniality in South Africa is coming out in 2018. Lesley's work focuses on the intersection of science studies, anthropology and philosophy in the Anthropocene, and her current research work spans fisheries, energy policy, and ecological modelling.

Lesley Green STS in "Africa" in Formation

Okune, Angela. 2018. "Lesley Green." In STS in "Africa" in Formation, created by Angela Okune and Aadita Chaudhury. In STS Across Borders Gallery Exhibit, curated by Aalok Khandekar and Kim Fortun. Annual Meeting of the Society for Social Studies of Science. Sydney, Australia. Aug 30-31. <http://www.stsinfrastructures.org>.

Annual Meeting of the Society for Social Studies of Science

Sydney, Australia | 30-31 August, 2018

<http://www.stsinfrastructures.org>